To Enforce Penalties for Nonfulfillment of Terms of the Peace Treaty

(By Associated Press)
London, March 7.—Bulletin—Allied troops will march into Germany tomorrow in accordance with the decision of the Allies to inflict upon Germany the penalties provided for non-fulfillment of the reparations obligations, it was announced officially this evening.

Allies Fix Their Penalties

(By Associated Press)
London, March 7.—Bulletin—The Allies this afternoon decided to apply penalties to Germany for non-fulfillment of the reparations requirements. The British Premier said he must announce, on behalf of the Allies, a failure to come to even an approximate understanding with Germany "Until we get proposals from Germany which mean a permanent settlement there can be no peace," he declared.

The penalties are Allied occupation of the cities of Duisburg, Düsseldorf, and Rurecht, in the German industrial area beyond the Rhine; the imposition by each Allied country of such a tax upon German imports as they may deem fitting; the establishment of a customs boundary under Allied control along the Rhine.

SUIT OVER JACKSON LUMBER KING'S ESTATE

Frankfort, Ky., March 7.—Judgment of the Clark circuit court in the suit over the estate of the late James M. Thomas, Jackson county "lumber king," who owned a vast area of virgin forest on War Fork of Station Camp creek, was reversed by the Court of Appeals Friday, in an opinion by Judge Quinn. The case is sent back for more evidence concerning accounts.

Thomas had acquired up to the time of his death in 1905 no less than 31 square miles of timber and coal lands in Jackson and Rockcastle counties, some of it purchased for 50 cents an acre. When he died his two sons, W. R. and R. L. Thomas, who, with his son-in-law, T. E. Moore, were trustees, bought the estate for $190,000 and later sold it for $400,000.

His daughter, Mary Thomas Ireland, of Lexington, received her share of the proceeds, but later proceedings were instituted for a share of the $400,000 realized by her brothers and the Court of Appeals held that they must be considered trustees for the estate and must divide with the other heirs. Most of the original heirs since have died. The present suit involves expenses of the settlement and compensation of the trustees.

LOCAL FIRM TO BUILD BERA WATERWORKS

Moynahan & Forbes Get Contract to Construct $50,000 Plant, With 5-Acre Lake

One of the largest construction contracts to be handled in this section this coming year, has recently been secured by the local firm of Moynahan and Forbes in the building of Bera's new water works system. The cost of the big operation will be something like $40,000 or $50,000. The local firm has already started moving its machinery and equipment to the site, which is in Pig Hollow, about four and a half miles east of Bera.

It is planned to construct a large storage lake of about five acres, to have a capacity of 35,000,000 gallons of water. The water will be retained by a big concrete dam 35 feet high. A large amount of piping and other equipment will be required for the big job, upon which the local contractors will be engaged several months.

This well known local firm secured the big contract after close competitive bidding with a number of much larger firms. They are being warmly congratulated upon winning such a nice contract and those who have taken cognizance of their work in the past know that they will make a first class job of it in every way.

SUMMER SCHOOLS FOR TEACHERS

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., March 7.—Summer schools for teachers will be placed in every county in the state if a plan just broached to county superintendents by State Superintendent George Colvin, is adopted. The plan is designed to relieve expected pressure on the state normals and the University of Kentucky as a result of the laws passed by the 1920 legislature requiring higher qualifications for teachers.

The plan contemplates the use of school buildings and facilities throughout the state with competent professors in charge. Teachers who take the prescribed courses will be given full credit the same as if they had attended the regular summer session of a normal school.

The minimum number of students for establishment of a summer school, according to Superintendent Colvin, probably would be about fifty. They would receive high school and professional training and the last week would absorb the usual institute week, making unnecessary attendance at annual institute at a different time.

Not only does the superintendent suggest that such schools be asked for but he also urges that salary schedules be designed to take cognizance of attendance at these schools. He also calls attention to the fact that in North Carolina last year a series of 80 such schools were held with an attendance of 7,000 students.

FIRST CABINET MEETING TUESDAY

Harding to Discuss Central American Problems and Legislative Program

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 7.—Legislative policies of the new administration will be discussed by President Harding with republican Congressional leaders at a White House dinner tonight. Tomorrow the President will preside at the first meeting of his cabinet. The call went out today. It was said the cabinet session will take up relations with Panama and Costa Rica and a program for the special session of Congress, the date for which will probably be determined at the dinner tonight and announced tomorrow.

PRISONERS GO TO PEN TUESDAY

Prisoners who were convicted at the recent term of circuit court were sent to the pen Saturday morning, as final business of the term was wound up. Judge Shackelford went to Nicholasville Monday to begin court there.

The Judge suspended the sentence against Tom Todd, colored, charged with deserting infant children. Todd furnished bond that he will care for his little ones in the future. Prisoners who were sentenced were Forest Masters, five years for an offense against a girl; Ezekial Cruse, one year for auto stealing; Frank Riddle, four years for house-breaking; and Frank Williams, colored, two years for house-breaking. Sheriff Whitlock and deputies will take them to the state reformatory Tuesday morning. He was unable to go with them Monday because of court day duties here. At the same time he will take along Mrs. Lizzie Finney and Miss Florence Turpin, sentenced to five and three years respectively, for obtaining money by false pretenses. They were sentenced at the October term of circuit court, but their sentences have just been affirmed by the Court of Appeals, and they have been in jail here awaiting final action by the state's highest court.

About a dozen divorces were asked at the recent term of court here, but final action will not be taken on those that were granted until all costs are paid and then decrees are formally entered.

Many Mules Here

There were a lot of mules on the court day market here Monday with a large number of buyers after them. Prices asked were so high, it was stated, that few changed hands during the day. The cattle market was rather dull stockmen said. Some stock hog-sold well. Several changed hands at 12 cents a pound.

HARRY RICE SHOWS 'EM HOW TO FARM

Popular Richmond Boy Takes Prizes on Beef Cattle at Lexington Recently

(From Lancaster Record)
Harry Rice, formerly of Richmond, but now a full-fledged Gardardite, has taken up agriculture on his father's farm near Lancaster, and takes to his work like a duck to water. Since Harry has cast his lot with us, he has made many friends in the county and city, and is very popular, especially among the younger set.

He has recently graduated from a four-year course in agriculture at the Iowa State College at Ames, and is thoroughly prepared to take up the work which he has assumed. He is a son of Mr. Z. T. Rice, of Richmond, who is well known here where he often comes to look after his farming interests.

Harry displayed unusual efficiency at the Kentucky Beef Cattle Association held recently at Lexington during Farmers' Week, when he won two of the cash prizes on estimating the nearest weight of two steers that were butchered at the experiment station.

The following letter from that department will be read by Harry's friends with interest:

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 19, 1921.
Mr. Harry D. Rice,
Lancaster, Ky.

Dear Mr. Rice: Enclosed please find check of the Kentucky Beef Cattle Association for $2 in payment of second prize on your estimate of the dressed weight of steer number 1 here during Farmers' Week. The steer weighed alive 1,290 pounds and dressed out 808. Two men tied for the first with an estimate of 806.25. Your estimate was 806.15 pounds.

Steer number 2, weighing 832 pounds alive, dressed 525.75. You won second place in this contest with an estimate of 525.12. The second prize was $2.00, therefore, the check I am enclosing for the two prizes is $4.00.

I wish to congratulate you on the fine showing you made. I am wondering if you are a son of Z. T. Rice, of Richmond. Very truly yours,
E. S. GOOD,
Chairman Animal Industry Group

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Synder at Cottonburg.

Misses Sarah Bell Long and Fannie Collins are visiting the former's brother, Mr. Jasper Long.

PAYNE RE-ELECTED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Popular City Superintendent to Head Schools Another Year—Other Business

The Board of Education of the city of Richmond held its regular March meeting Thursday night, March 3rd, with the following members of the board present: John Noland, H. G. Sandlin, J. C. Chenault, Z. T. Rice and D. B. McKinney. After disposing of routine business the board took up the election of superintendent; and by unanimous vote of those present, Supt. John Howard Payne was re-elected for a period of one year. It was decided to adjourn until March 15th, at which time the election of high school teachers will be taken up and disposed of, if possible. The election of grade teachers will be taken up at the regular April meeting.

The report of the superintendent showed the schools to be in good condition, and it was the feeling of the board that the school has been particularly fortunate during the present year in having a splendid faculty both in the high school and in the grades. Many improvements have been made in the buildings at Madison High School, a new gymnasium has been built and the building generally has been repaired and improved, one of the most important improvements being the installation of a heating plant. The board voted to join the county board of education in the suit of Madison County Board of Education vs. Trustees of Walters' Collegiate Institute, and authorized City Attorney J. P. Chenault to file its answer and enter its appearance in said suit.

The re-election of Prof. John Howard Payne as superintendent shows the confidence which the board has in his administration of the schools. Mr. Payne stands very high among the public school men of the state, and has the hearty support of his faculty and student body, as well as citizens generally of the city.

GEOFFREY MORGAN WANTS FACTORIES

To Take Care of Great Amount of Raw Materials Kentucky Farmers Ship Out

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., March 7.—An aggregate of 700,000,000 pounds of agricultural raw material, produced in Kentucky, is sent out of the state with the farmer paying the freight, to be manufactured, according to Geoffrey Morgan, secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation. The retailer pays the freight, carrying back with the consumer ultimately paying it both ways, he says, because the state has not the factories to prepare its own products.

"They call Louisville 'the gateway,'" he said. "We want the gate closed. It is now standing wide open. All we want is a chance to co-operate with the business men of the cities of the state and we will help get factories here."

Citing a few of the chief products of Kentucky, he said that of 250,000,000 pounds of tobacco produced in the state each year less than 20,000,000 pounds is manufactured in the state. The hemp industry, he said, once was important but now has been abandoned by the Kentucky farmer. There is no Kentucky market for it, he said.

The normal production of buckwheat, he said, is 250,000 bushels. Because there are no mills in Kentucky, only a small part of it is raised in Kentucky.

There is stored in Louisville, he said, 400,000 pounds of wool, because no concern here manufactures woolen goods.

Eighty million dollars worth of livestock is shipped to Louisville annually, he said. Of this $60,000,000 worth is sent elsewhere for butchering and a great deal of this comes back with the extra cost added. He said the principal livestock market for the stock raising section is Cincinnati, whereas Kentucky cities should be getting this business.

And Petty is said to have the inside track for postmaster at Louisville. It's funny how the same old crowd is always trying to get the office, no matter which side is "in." Petty is a nice fellow "and all that" but the wonder is how he gets his "fluence" to always "be in line" for a good job.

About the first thing that President Harding and his Secretary of State did was to notify Costa Rica and Panama to quit that fussing and fighting. And yet Harding before his election and in his inauguration address was "so" against the United States having anything to do with the affairs of foreign nations. Wonder what he will do if the two little opera bouffe republics refuse to do what he tells them?

Do You Want a Buffalo?

Washington, March 7.—Does anybody want a bull buffalo? If so, speak up, for Uncle Sam has 20 of assorted sizes and including a frisky, one-year calf, to give away.

"Here," says the Forest Service announcement, "is an excellent opportunity to get a real, live buffalo—not as gentle, perhaps, as a kitten, but, nevertheless, a nice pet if you have plenty of room to keep him, surrounded by a 12-foot double-play woven wire fence and the price of two tons of hay a year."

The buffalo are the surplus of the flourishing herd in Wichita National Forest, started 15 years ago with 15 head, but now numbering 150. There are two many bulls for domestic tranquility in the herd can you have one free by paying the cost of crating and hauling.

Somebody sent the editor of the Pickett Gazette a few bottles of home brew. The same day he received for publication wedding announcement and a notice of an auction sale. Here are the results: "Wm. Smith and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east of a beautiful cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves, before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about 70 guests, including two milk cows, six mules and a bob sled. Rev. Jenkins tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of hay rope and the bridal couple left on one good John Deere gang plow for an extended trip with terms to suit the purchasers. They will be at home to their friends with one good baby buggy and a few kitchen utensils after ten months from date of sale to responsible parties and some fifty chickens."—Ex.

The above statement was made recently by A. C. Billman, of Ligonier, Ind. Mr. Billman has lived in Noble county all of his life and is a well known and highly respected citizen of that county.

Bloodhounds Hunt Store Incendiaries Near Irvine

Capt. V. G. Mullikin and his bloodhounds returned to Lexington Friday from Irvine where he had been to trail persons thought to have set fire to a store of Jas. Sharp, eight miles from Irvine on the Irvine and Richmond pike.

The dogs, however, were unable to find any satisfactory trail due to the fact that a crowd had gathered during the fire and blotted out the trail. Jas. Sharp, a sailor, just returned from the navy, had put all his savings in a stock of merchandise and started in business for himself. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

And now it's Eugene O'Brien in at the Opera House tonight, and he many admirers of this popular screen star who witness this production will be both pleased and greatly surprised to find him in a new type of role.

In this John Lynch story, Mr.
O'Brien makes his appearance as Michael Strange, a young dweller by the sea, who is heartily sick of the monotony of the peaceful routine existence of his native Maine fishing village. Michael desires to see more of the world, and one day his wish is gratified through an old friend who invites him to visit his studio in New York. Then arise twists and turns of plot that are extremely romantic.

The immortal tale of the boy who means Boyhood to all mankind. How he lived in the little river town and the attempts to "civilize" him. How his "Pap" came for the money Huck had found and stole Huck away. How he lived his life in the wild with his "Pap" and finally managed to run away. How he met up with the runaway Jim and took up his life on his raft, while the village gave him up for dead. How he met the "King" and the "Duke" and all the escapades of those two rascallions. How Tom Sawyer appeared on the scene and the wonderful adventures of the two boys of all boys in the world.

It's a tale to warm, to cheer, to

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

For the Spring Sewing-Fest

A FEW weeks before Lent the shop windows blossom out with spring clothes for children, household linens, underlinens and house dresses, by way of reminding housewives that they must settle down to their annual spring sewing fest. Clothes for every member of the family become the absorbing matter of interest and the shops stand ready to furnish the wherewithal to make them. Their display windows are cheerful with gay spring cottons, checked and plaid ginghams, plain chambrays and novelty weaves along with sheer organza and other fine wash fabrics. This season they are showing exceptionally good-looking house dresses, crisp and practical, made of plaid, checked and plain materials. They invite the seamstress to consider what may be done with a few yards of gingham or other wash fabric in the hands of clever designers.

Checked ginghams for both grown-ups and children are as sure of a welcome as daffodils, and they are duly on hand in the new displays. Pink and white combinations appear to be favored, followed by lavender and white with other colors answering the roll call in pleasing tones. Then there are plain colored cottons, alone and in combination with white, as shown in the picture, with many attractive plaids and a few stripes.

The noteworthy feature in spring house dresses is not novelty of materials, but cleverness of designs. Many of the plaid ginghams are piped with a plain color and plain colors are ingeniously finished with white as in the dress shown at the right of the picture.
A plain chambray is used for this model with vestee and collar of white lawn. The short sleeves are ornamented with folds of the lawn, and there are deep cuffs made of it in double thickness.

Another chambray is shown at the left, with narrow-tucked panels inserted in the skirt at each side headed by small tabs ornamented with needlework in white. The collar is edged with embroidery and there is a pretty finish of simple needlework on the bodice.

NORMAL SOCIETIES DEBATE BIG QUESTION

The annual inter-society debate of Eastern Normal was staged on Thursday evening. For about an hour and a half every native of the campus was subjected to a veritable deluge of oratory and fiery pyrotechnics. The Normal boasts of six literary societies and all are doing active work in forensics. The debate was conducted on the triangular basis, each society debating the same question and all debating simultaneously. Enthusiasm and friendly rivalry were in evidence at every angle. The halls were appropriately decorated with society pennants and colors. Student officers presided and the debates were conducted in the most orderly manner.

The subject for debate read as follows: "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Prohibit Foreign Immigration for a Period of Five Years From the Present Date."

Two teams arguing the affirmative received favorable votes of the judges, while in one instance the decision went to the negative.

The Periclesian Society, represented by Pauline Yates, Marion county; Sam Denny, Wayne county; and Marjorie Watson, of Lexington, debated the Cynthian Society, which was represented by the following young men: Kearney Adams, Letcher county; Laurence Howard, Harlan county; and Ishmael Triplett, Knott county. The strong argument presented by the Periclesians proved too much for the Cynthians and the judges were unanimous in awarding a decision to the former.

The Carpedians, defending the negative, succeeded in outwitting their opponents, the Washingtonians. The Carps were manned by veteran debaters and before time was called on the last speaker it was evident that the Washingtonians were completely decimated. Henry Holbrook, Letcher county; Joseph White, Campbell county; and Franklin Webster, Owen county, represented the Carpedians. The Washingtonians presented a good array of talent in the following: Bryan Johnson, Whitley county; Elizabeth Cain and V. B. Cooper, Magoffin county.

The third corner was occupied by the Utopians and the Excelsiors, the former defending the negative and the latter arguing the affirmative. A glance at these two societies is sufficient proof of spirited debating. One finds the Excelsiors represented by Eugene Salmon, Greenup county; Ralph Tyree, Estill county; and Earl Jackson, Owen county. On the Utopian side the following appeared: Paul Rush, Bullitt county; Eliza Hanson, Grant county; and Nollie Parrott, Knox county. At the close of the clash the decision was awarded to the Utopians.

It is probable that there will be a semi-final and a final held some time later in order to determine the grand champion. It is expected that there will be some strong debating in the later contests.

Swift's Produce Review

From 15 to 20 per cent more butter is being made than was made during the same period last year, but there has been a further advance in prices in both the consuming centers and the producing territory.

Another large shipment of butter is due in New York from Denmark about March 7 on the S. S. Hellingolav, which sailed from Copenhagen February 25, with 1,251,000 pounds of Danish butter.

This grade of butter meets with a ready sale on account of its uniformly fine quality, which is generally ascribed to the care and attention given to the milk and cream on the farms. American producers could well profit by the example of the Danish producers, as more attention to the care of cream and frequent deliveries to the stations and creameries will enable manufacturers to produce better butter.

Prices for live poultry in the large cities are generally higher, while dressed poultry is selling lower. Paying prices show but little change from last week.

Egg prices are ruling a little lower than last week, due to larger supplies, and while the demand for current use has been heavy, a few lots have been placed in storage. There is still a large supply on track in Chicago, unsold, but the market will, in all probability, fluctuate within a small range for the next few weeks.

"LITTLE THEATRE CLUB" FORMED AT EASTERN

One of the greatest movements introduced into America, originated in Paris, in about the year 1898. Its farsighted creators understood that in each individual there was a desire to give expression to his or her emotion in a more or less degree. And to curb and direct these emotions in the right channels would be a great step towards advancement to the cultural side of life, thereby increasing a keener appreciation and more tasteful enjoyment of dramatic literature.

With such a noble purpose the "Little Theatre Movement" was brought into existence. It was received with hearty welcome in America, and today, there are over 250 Little Theatre in the United States.

The first club of this kind to be organized in Kentucky, was at the State University, where it has grown most rapidly, under the able leadership of Prof. W. H. Miles.

About six weeks ago he delivered a most interesting lecture on the subject to the students of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School. It was so enthusiastically received that on Wednesday evening, March 2, Eastern's most talented and progressive boys and girls, under the direction of the Expression Department, met for the purpose of organizing a "Little Theatre Club."

The charter members consisted of Misses Kathryn Baker, Pauline Yates, Margaret Chenault, Mary Emily Chenault, Sarah Strong, Ollie Tye Williams, Alice Dean Ray, Margaret Doty, Geneva Hord, Margaret Lane, Florrie Lane, and Diana Lackey, Messrs. Sam Denny, Henry Arnold, Wm. Blanton, Henry Holbrook, Leslie Evans, James Carr, and Christopher Crutcher. The following ones were chosen as officers: Kathryn Baker, President; Pauline Yates, Secretary; Wm. Blanton, Treasurer; Sam Denny, Stage Manager; Henry Arnold, Business Manager; Margaret Chenault, Chairman of "Play Reading" Committee; Ollie Tye Williams, Chairman of "Costume" Committee.

To be eligible for membership the candidates must present evidence of their ability before the club in the form of a "try-out," which was decided by the business council, would be held on the evening of March 21st. Upon receipt of five-sixths of the votes of the club, each will be declared duly elected.

With such an enthusiastic organization it is convincing that that this club will be one of the greatest factors for good, not only at the Eastern State Normal and Richmond, but to the entire state.

Kentucky's Old Colleges

Louisville, Ky., March 7--There were six colleges or universities of considerable size in Kentucky before the civil war and two established within a few years after its close, according to educational directories of the state. Transylvania University, established in Lexington in 1793, is the oldest and only one now in existence that was started in the eighteenth century.

Centre College, Danville, established in 1819, is the second oldest college and St. Mary's at St. Mary's, started in 1821, makes up the trio of centenarian schools. The centennial of St. Mary's will be celebrated in June.

The other schools which began operation before the war between the states are Georgetown College, Georgetown, 1829; Berea College, Berea, 1855, and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, 1859.

Kentucky Wesleyan, Winchester, 1865, and the University of Kentucky, 1866, were started soon after the war.

KEATS SPEED HONORED BY N. Y. JOURNALIST

Friends and relatives here will be interested in the following from a New York paper about Keats Speed:

Keats Speed, managing editor of the Evening Telegram, and until recently managing editor of the New York Herald, was the guest of honor at a dinner given him by the editorial staff of the New York Herald at the New York Press Club Saturday night. The entertainment was furnished by Miss Irene Franklin and her husband, Burton Green, among the best known of Vanderbilt headlines, with songs of their own composition. Mr. Franklin's singing of "Red Head" one of her old time numbers, was greeted with applause, which approached the tumultuous.

Samuel A. Wood, the oldest member of The Sun and The New York Herald staffs in point of continuous service, was toastmaster; Ervin Wardman, vice president of the Sun-Herald corporation; Charles M. Line, its new managing editor of the New York Herald, and other speakers, told Mr. Speed something of the esteem and affection felt for him by the men who have worked with him, and their sense of personal loss in his departure from The Herald.

Mr. Wardman presented to Mr. Speed a silver service on behalf of his fellow workers.

KANSAS DEVELOPING NEW WHEAT AND CORN

(By Associated Press)

Manhattan, Kan., March 7.—Development of Kansas farms of new varieties of wheat and corn to obtain better crops is being sponsored by the Kansas Crop Investment Association.

At the recent annual meeting of the association it was voted to extend inspection to two varieties of soft wheat, Harvest Queen and Fulcaster; two additional varieties of hard wheat, Turkey and Kharkof, and to Clark's Blackhull, a variety extensively grown in south central Kansas.

Means of combatting the recently discovered root, stalk and ear rots of corn, which, it is said, cause considerable loss in Kansas, is being considered by the organization. H. R. Holbert, of the United States department of agriculture, declared at the convention that in Illinois these diseases are responsible for losses of as much as 25 bushels per acre.

More than 200,000 bushels of pure seed wheat worth in excess of $500,000, were sold in 1919 and 1920 through the association, according to the report of Secretary S. C. Salmon.

Bank Employees Use Revolvers

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., March 7.—A round of prevention is worth a volley of cure, in the opinion of the officials of a local bank. The bank, in line with a number of others over the country, has organized a "regular revolver club."

The club comprises nearly every officer and employee in bank and the recently elected captain sees to it that the members attend target practice at stated periods. The approved military manual of the revolver is used in instruction. Revolvers also must be kept as clean and shiny as a recruit's rifle at his first army inspection it is stated.

WRIGLEY'S RULE FOR RESULTS

What William Wrigley doesn't know about advertising will have to be learned later. He took a nickel's worth of merchandise, added manufacturing skill, added selling genius, then added advertising.

And William Wrigley has chewing-gummed a flock of fancy fortunes out of the simple rule that he states thus:

"Tell 'em quick and tell 'em often. Advertising is like running a furnace—you've got to keep on shoveling coal. Once you stop stoking the fire goes out."

You notice that William Wrigley does not let the fire go out.

Persistence is every successful advertiser's middle name.
